

DANIELS ORDERS AN INVESTIGATION OF AMERICAN STEAMER'S SINKING; ONLY ONE MEMBER OF CREW LOST

SECRETARY OF NAVY WILL SECURE FULL REPORT ON MINING OF EVELYN OFF
BORKUM ISLAND.

MAKES NO COMPLAINT

Member of Firm Which Chartered Vessel Accepts Loss As Part of War Risk—Sailors Landed at Helgoland and Holland

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, Feb. 22.—Further reports concerning the sinking of the American ship Evelyn yesterday off Borkum Island in North Sea show that only one man of the crew lost his life. This man was frozen to death in a small boat after the sinking of the steamer.

The Evelyn, which sailed from New York January 29, with cargo of cotton for Bremen, struck two mines,
but the crew had time to get into life-boats. Some members of the vessel's crew were taken by a German ship to Helgoland while the others landed in Holland.

Daniels Orders Investigation.
Washington, Feb. 22.—Secretary
Daniels today ordered Commander Walter R. Gherardi, American naval attache at Berlin, to investigate and make full report on the destruction of the Evelyn. So far official advice merely have reported the sinking of the vessel and her cargo and give no details.

The Evelyn is the first ship insured
with the United States bureau on war risk insurance to be lost since it began operations several months ago.
Insurance on ships and cargoes amounting to more than $55,000,000 has been written. Of the total amount of insurance written by the bureau
more than half has expired with the arrival of ships and cargoes at destinations. The bureau has earned in premiums more than $600,000, so that it is able to send its first loss without recourse to the appropriation, made by congress.

Owner Not to Protest.
New York, Feb. 22.—William L. Harris of the firm which owned the steamship Evelyn, sunk in the North sea yesterday, said today that his firm would make no protest to the state department, as he considered the loss of the ship due to the war risk which he had taken.

Scandinavians Alarmed.
London, Feb. 22.—Germany's submarine blockade continued to be the chief topic of interest in the United Kingdom, although British shipping apparently is moving with its usual freedom. The Scandinavian neutrals, however, are showing much alarm
over the situation, a great sensation
having been caused in those countries
by torpedoing of the Norwegian steamship, Belridge, off Folkestone last week.

Representatives of the Scandinavian government are holding another conference today, the outcome of which awaits with much interest by neutral shippers.

"The question of a naval convoy, it is understood, is being considered seriously at the conference, but the guarded comment of the newspapers
shows that it is clearly recognized that such a step might lead to war.

A lone German aeroplane flew over several east coast towns last night, dropping bombs, which did only slight damage and caused little alarm.

DAYS OF THE "ROBERT" E. LEE' COMING BACK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 22.—River traffic between St. Paul and New Orleans was given quite a boost today, when the city council of St. Paul took up the matter of building a terminal in one of the most convenient spots for river shippers.

H. Bernhard of New Orleans is organizing a $5,000,000 company, to be known as the Mississippi River Navigation Co., which shall have for its object the operation of a barge line
on the Mississippi.

It was Bernhard, who, last summer,
sent a barge from New Orleans to St.
Paul and back, just to demonstrate the possibilities of river navigation between these points.

VON TIRPITZ, AHEAD OF GERMAN NAVY, DIRECTS SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN

Grand Admiral von Tirpitz.

The Kaiser's plan to blockade the British Isles and in that way retaliate for England's starvation plan against Germany undoubtedly originated with Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, head of the German navy. The destruction of English merchant ships by submarines was forecast by von Tirpitz in an interview several weeks ago. He is in general charge of the present campaign.

War News Summary

The German war office announced today that the Russian tenth army was considered as having been destroyed, "as a result of the recent German victory in East Prussia." It is stated that more than 100,000 Russians including seven generals were captured.

The Russian military authorities,
however, acknowledge no such losses.
They admit that one army corps was cut to pieces, but assert that the main force extricated itself.

In the Vosges further German victories are claimed, including the capture of another town. The German war office also states that the losses of the allies of recent fighting, in the Champagne region were "extraordinarily high." The French war office details no new developments of importance on the western front.

The naval attaché of the American embassy at Berlin has been instructed to investigate the sinking of the American steamer Evelyn. It is thought at Washington, however, that no disturbing complications would result.

REPORTS THE DEATH OF GERMAN GENERAL

Amsterdam Dispatch from Berlin Reports Demise of General Von Wrocken, Division Commander.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Amsterdam, Feb. 22.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Amsterdam Telegraph says that Lieut. General Von Wrocken, commander of a German army division, who recently was awarded the Iron Cross, is dead at the German capital.

According to the same telegram,
Lieut. Count Von Bassowitz-Levetzow, a son of the premier of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and brother-in-law
of Prince Oscar, fifth son of Emperor William, has been killed in the eastern theatre of the war.

SUNDAY WAR BULLETIN

Berlin, Feb. 21, 7:40 p. m. (via London).—The American steamship Evelyn, which left New York, Jan. 29,
with a cargo of cotton for Bremen, struck a mine off Borkum Island in the North sea yesterday. The vessel sank. Her captain and 27 of her crew were saved. It has not been learned what nation placed the mine.

British Transport Sunk?
Berlin (wireless via Sarville), Feb.
21.—The report of the sinking of an English transport with troops and the accompanying steamship reached Berlin too late for comment by this morn-ing's papers. All, however, feature the report in first-page headlines,
along with the reports of the sinking of other vessels by submarines or mines.

Mine-sweeper Destroyed.
Berlin, Feb. 21.—The war office announcement says: "Near Nieupoort
one of the enemy's ships, probably a mine-sweeping vessel, touched a mine and sank. Enemy's destroyers disappeared when shelled."

Irish Vessel Torpedoed.
London, Feb. 21.—The small Irish coasting steamer Downshire was sunk
last night by a submarine off the Isle of Man in the Irish sea. The Germans gave the crew five minutes to leave the ship. The crew landed last night at Dundrum County Downs.

News of Land Battles.
Berlin, Feb. 21.—An official statement says Germans captured a trench and a few prisoners near Ypres repulsed three French attacks near Combrès, capturing over a hundred prisoners, and in the Vosges captured Hochrath Heights near Hochrath, counterattacks by Germans failed and
the statement says there are no important changes in eastern theatre
and battles are taking their course.

Paris, Feb. 21.—An official statement says infantry actions in Belgium resulted in the recapture of a portion of some trenches temporarily occupied by Germans. In Champagne two counterattacks by Germans failed and in the Vosges five German attacks on the banks of the Lefschet were repulsed and fighting continues.

BILL TO CONSTRUCT 75 NEW SUBMARINES

Republicans Would Build Under Sea Boats in Large Number From Effects of War.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 22.—Senate republicans intend to put a larger submarine building program in the pending naval bill than has been provided by the house.

Senator Smoot today introduced an amendment for 50 submarines of a seagoing type and 25 smaller ones.
For the first year they put the appropriation at $30,000,000.

"The European war has demonstrated beyond any question," said Senator Smoot, "that submarines are invaluable for defense of coast cities and coast lines. That is the sort of defense we want in this country,
more than anything else."

War and preparedness for war,
were the sole topic of discussion today in congress, the senate debating the army bill and the house working on appropriations for coast fortifications.

Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee, gave notice
that legislation for an army of 250, 000 men and a reserve system would be taken up at the next session.

LAST MINUTE RUSH ENGAGES CONGRESS

Washington's Birthday Finds Both Houses Working at Full Speed
on Financial Measures.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 22.—Congress observed George Washington's birthday
by grinding out the long delayed appropriation bill. Only nine working days of the present session of congress remain, and both house and senate are spending their whole attention on pressing the supply bills
to a conclusion.

BRITISH MAY REFUSE COTTON FOR GERMANS

Under Secretary of War Tennant Intimates in House of Commons
That Cotton May Be Added
as Contraband.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 22.—The British government may reconsider its ruling permitting the entrance of cotton into Germany. This was intimated in the house of commons this afternoon by Harold J. Tennant, under secretary of war.

Mr. Tennant stated that when the decision was reached not to make cotton contraband, the government believed that the ruling was based on the fact that Germany was already satisfied, but "this attitude must be revised from time to time," he added.

BRITAIN TO RESPECT U. S. CRAFT IN ZONE

Sir Edward Grey Informa White House German Note to Contrary

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 22.—Sir Edward Grey has sent to the state department
a statement characterizing as a falsehood a recent statement from Berlin attributing to the British the intention to restrict the entry of ships in the navy war zone and charge it to a German submarine war
with the expectation of precipitating a crisis between the United States and Germany.

Harris, Cedarburg; Wm. H.
Parry, Seattle, Wash.; George Rub-
lee, of Cornish, N. H.

LATE WILHELM KOERS WAS HERO IN PRUSSIAN WAR.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Potsdam, Germany, Feb. 22.—An interesting military figure of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, passed away here recently in the person of Wilhelm Koers, the standard bearer of the 1st battalion of the First Guards Regiment. When the first Emperor William was proclaimed in the Mirror Hall of Versailles Palace
in 1871 Koers held over his monarch's
head the flag of his regiment. Koers, who had reached his 71st year last before his death, was a custodian of the Royal Palace at Potsdam. In the latter days of the late Emperor Augusta when she had become very feeble, Koers always accompanied Her Majesty when she went out. He was well known to all the members of the Imperial family.

CHART IS PREPARED OF NEW AMENDMENTS BY SENATOR SKOGMO

Important Amendments of State Constitution Found Not Spread on Journal and Subject to Court Ruling.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—The dilemma that may face the state if all of the constitutional amendments passed by legislatures since 1856 and the need of a constitutional convention to correct these errors are indicated by a table of amendments passed since 1856 that has been prepared by Senator George B. Skogmo of River Falls. The franchise amendment and the forestry amendments
were not found to be legally passed because not spread upon the journals of the houses. Senator Skogmo declares that the chart which he has prepared shows that few of the amendments passed would be sustained under the court ruling.

The amendment to the state constitution passed in 1856 increasing the pay of members of the legislature to $350 per annum was a misleading
law as it was not spread on the records in either the senate or assembly according to the chart prepared. The amendment prohibiting special and private laws was not spread in the assembly journal in 1870. The amendment which established the supreme court itself is not spread on either the journals of the senate and assembly
in 1876, and the amendment
passed increasing the terms of supreme court justices to ten years was not spread on the assembly journals of 1882. The amendment of 1889 prohibiting special city legislation was not spread on the assembly journal;
the amendment permitting in condition more circuit judges in populous counties was not spread in the assembly journal in 1895; the amendment permitting the legislature to enact banking laws was not spread in 1897, but the amendment prohibiting the use of railroad passes was legally passed.

The table shows that the constitutional amendment increasing the size of the supreme court from five to seven judges was not spread on the senate journals in 1901; that the amendment permitting the state income tax was not spread in proper form in 1904; that the amendment
striking out the provision for a tip
census was not spread in the assembly in 1907, and the same is true of nearly all recent amendments. Senator Skogmo says that the field of constitutional and statute law is so unsettled that a constitutional convention is needed.

BOSSHARD MEASURE IS DEATH ON TIPS

Bill Which Makes "Tipping" a Misdemeanor Will Be Reported Back to Senate This Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Senator Bossard of La Crosse would put an end to the "tipping" evil by making it a misdemeanor to give a tip to a public official. The bill, which carries a heavy fine for accepting one. His bill, which will be reported back to the senate by the committee on revision early this week, is broad in scope and all places where a tip is paid. Under the terms of his bill every employee of any hotel, restaurant or public place and every employee of any person, firm or any public service corporation engaged in the transportation of passengers or in the furnishing of food, lodging or other accommodations to the public who shall accept or solicit any gratuity shall be guilty of a misdemeanor if the provisions of the law are to apply with equal force to those offering a tip.

The traveling public may be apprised of the provisions of this law
the bill provides that when it becomes a law it shall be posted in every public place, in every hotel, restaurant, rooming and lodging house, and in conspicuous places in depots, that all may read it.

EXPECT TAX RECEIPT BILL TO BE PASSED

Measure to Furnish Detailed Tax Information on Each Receipt Has Popular Support.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—There has been so much discussion as to how much of the taxes paid goes to the state and how much to the county that Senator Scott has introduced a bill in the senate and Assemblyman Nye has offered a similar measure in the house which will require this information to be furnished to every taxpayer on the tax receipt. The measure provides for the segregation of these accounts on the county records.

Upon completion of the tax roll,
the clerk shall properly fill out the tax statement in the front of said roll, declares the Scott bill, "which shall be given to the taxpayer and shall show the total tax in three subdivisions: State county and local taxes, including all school charges and taxes as local taxes." Said clerk shall then compute the proportion or percentage which each subdivision bears to the total state, county and local tax or the amount in each subdivision as represented by such subdivision. The clerk shall then affix this information, together with a statement for the preceding year,
to be printed or stamped on each tax receipt issued by the treasurer of said town, city or village.

Laws similar to this have been enacted in several other states with the result, it is claimed by members of the legislature, that much of the extravagance in taxation has been eliminated. The bill seems to have the general support of many members
in both houses.

BOYCOTT OF PRODUCTS OF ALLIES IN GERMANY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The boycott of French, English and Russian products throughout Germany is to be made more complete. A long list of such products has been sent to the railway stations, which after using up
the supplies in stock are not to repeat them. They include a table water which although obtained near the Rhine was bottled by an English company. English lace, Russian candles and Chevrease cheese.

FIRE CAUSES PANIC IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Melting of Electric Cables By $500,- 000 Conflagration Throws City In Darkness Early Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 22.—Fire in the center of the district early today caused property damage estimated by the police at more than $500,000. The entire business section was thrown into darkness by the melting of electric cables. Panics were created in apartment houses and hotels near the scene; the greatest of four city squares meeting
at St. Louis and Calumet avenues, were destroyed by the fire, which followed an explosion in the building of the Viogheim Brothers' Furniture company.

Within five minutes after the fire was discovered the Viogheim building had collapsed. When the fire department reached the scene the flames had leaped across the street
and had spread in four directions.

SEA SAFETY BILL DISPUTE SETTLED

Points Which Has Held Statute's Passage Back Agreed Upon Today
and Bill May Pass.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Disputed provisions in the seaman's bill were composed today in a conference of the senate and house managers after many weeks' deliberation. An effort will be made to finally pass the measure at this session. Conditions for lake, coastal and ocean steamers for the saving equipment, which has been one of the points in contention, were compromised. Lake steamers would be required to carry life boats for 20 per cent of passengers and life rafts for 30 per cent more.

Vessels plying between the coast and the coast would be required to carry lifeboats and rafts for 35 per cent each—70 per cent in all.
Ocean going vessels, which carry life-boats for 75 per cent and rafts for 75 per cent more.

Conditions for government of seamen remain practically unchanged.

UPRISING OF PIUTES COSTS THREE LIVES

Citizens of Utah Hasten to Assist U.
S. Marshal in Putting Down Insurrection.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Denver, Feb. 22.—After a continuous battle through the night, the Bluff, Utah, between a band of fifty-two Piute Indians, and a posse of twenty-six men led by United States Marshal Aquila Barker, bands of citizens from various towns in Utah were preparing today to go to the assistance of the whites. The Indians also have been reinforced.

Two Indians and one white man have been killed, and a number of white men wounded, and two Indians captured. One of those killed was an Indian maiden who was said to have run into the line of battle. The fight started early Sunday morning.

POURS OIL ON COALS RACINE LADY BURNED

Woman Badly Injured and Expected to Die As Result of Reckless Act.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Racine, Feb. 22.—Pouring oil on live coals in her kitchen stove in an effort to make it burn stronger, Mrs.
Mary Karisuk received burns from which she is not expected to recover.
The instant the oil struck the coals
there was an explosion and Mrs.
Karisuk was enveloped in flames. Her entire clothing had become ignited.
Her body with the exception of her head, which was protected by a hat,
was seared off in strips. The husband and brother of the woman hearing her frenzied screams, rushed to her side and both received painful injuries.

MANY STATE CORPORATIONS INCREASE THEIR CAPITAL

EURASIANS SEEK TO PUT OWN REGIMENT IN FIGHT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Feb. 22.—The petition of the Eurasians or half-castes of India,
to raise some regiments of their own kind has caused the war office considerable uneasiness because of the delicate social questions involved.
Eurasians are in the unfortunate position of being neither white nor natives. They are not admitted into white society as a rule, and are disliked or despised by the natives of India. The same time they feel themselves superior to the natives because of their white blood.

The whites and Eurasians could get along very well together at the front,
but the imperial authorities fear the Indian regiments would resent the formation of a distinctly Eurasian soldierly, and would besides refuse to associate with them in arms.

The War Office is now trying to put the damper on the project without offending the loyalty and the sentimentality of an important element of the Indian population.

EXTRAVAGANT CLAIM IS MADE IN BERLIN

SEVEN RUSSIAN GENERALS AND 100,000 PRISONERS TAKEN
IN MAZURIAN LAKE
CAMPAIGN.

PETROGRAD'S CLAIMS

Weakness of Russian Transportation System Held Responsible for Recent Losses in East Prussia.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The German official statement issued today announces that the captured in the Mazurian lake district of East Prussia has increased to seven generals and more than 100,000 men. The number of pieces of cannon taken is 150.

Explains Russian Defeat.

Petrograd, Feb. 22.—Explaining the Russian retreat from East Prussia is contained in a communication given out last night by the general staff. Success of the German coup is attributed largely to the lack of strategic railways which prevented
the Russians from concentration
"with necessary rapidity on our East Prussian front forces indispensable to ward off this drive of the enemy."
The communication in part is as follows:

"The Germans, after a series of exceptionally obstinate and tenacious attacks which cost them innumerable victims, became persuaded of the impossibility of dislodging us from the left bank of the Vistula and proceeded at the end of January to put a new plan into operation.

"Having finished the formation in the interior of their country of several new corps, and deciding to continue the transportation of troops from their west front in order to make a supreme effort against that,
profiting by their network of railroads, the Germans were unable to launch an overwhelming force against our tenth army which occupied strongly organized positions along the Angerapp river, and the Mazurian lakes.

Retirement Decided on.
"Not being able, owing to lack of railroad facilities, to concentrate on our East Prussian position, which the necessary rapidity of forces indispen-sible to ward off this drive of the enemy, our chief decided to withdraw the above mentioned army from East Prussia toward the frontier and further retiring them toward the Niemen and the Boher.

In these movements the right wing of the tenth army, pressed by a great number of the enemy and threatened with being surrounded on the right bank, was held to make a very swift turning movement in the direction of Kowno.

This measure exposed the flank
of the corps, which, owing to this fact, found itself in an extremely dangerous position and only broken and disorganized remnants succeeded in escaping from this district. Other corps of the tenth army fighting continuously and stubbornly, slowly retreated, and the enemy marked out for them by their commanders.

Repulse Advancing Germans.
On taking up the positions the Russians, who bravely repulsed the attacking enemy in Carpathians, inflicted severe losses and overwhelming difficulties caused by the deep snow which covered all the roads, the roads being impassable,
automobiles were not able to run,
and trains were delayed frequently,
not reaching their destination.

Retreating slowly step by step,
one corps forming the left sector of the tenth army, held the enemy for nine days on lines which are ordinarily traversed in four days.

On the 19th of these corps fell back through Augustowo, retired from the battle at Shpoo and assumed the fortified position indicated for them.

At the present moment actions on the German front continue before Oswitz on the road from Lenza to Pavabno and north of Kadidly on the road between Piotsk and Pionisk.

London, Feb. 22.—Fighting in the Carpathian mountains still is being fiercely prosecuted by the Russian and Austro-German forces, but apparently without decisive results for either side.

The French claim officially not only have repulsed German counter attacks in the Champagne region, but to have captured a large sector of German trenches to the north and east of the wood taken the day before.

At the eastern end of the western front, the Germans have moved forward on the Alsacian flank of the Vosges mountains in the region to the west of Kolmar.

INVASION OF PRIVACY.

Oswald Garrison Villard of the New York Evening Post recently gave a talk to the students of the University of Kansas journalistic school on some of the infidelities of modern journalism in the United States. The Christian Science Monitor, in commenting on the address, says:

"As a frequent speaker at public meetings and as a director of several important civic organizations he has occasion to watch the quality of the reports of his own and other men's speeches and of the narratives furnished the public of the workings of societies in which he is interested. His verdict is that nothing is injuring the standing of the press of the country more today than the inaccuracy of the work done by reporters. Responsibility for the condition, if it exists, rests with the supervisors of the reporters serve; for a discipline can be imposed that will insure accuracy provided either managing editors or the public insist on having it. The public's power lies in its ability to select between the accurate and the inaccurate paper.

Mr. Villard did not stop with a plea for more accuracy in reporting news, domestic or general, personal or corporate. He made the budding Kansas Journalists see that contemporary methods go far beyond professional needs or social rights in exploitation of the doings of individuals and in invasion of privacy, a process not tolerated by the law or by public opinion in any other civilized land when carried to the degree practiced by many journalists of the United States. In some communities the press is partly to what is virtually social blackmail, preservation by individuals and families of rights formerly assumed to be inviolable now being possible only on the basis of paying tribute to journalistic brigands.

Of course where such organizations as journalists may have for their duty, professional interests do their duty, offenders of rights formerly assumed to be inviolable now being possible only on the basis of paying tribute to journalistic brigands.

Of course where such organizations as journalists may have for their duty, professional interests do their duty, offenders of rights formerly assumed to be inviolable now being possible only on the basis of paying tribute to journalistic brigands.

Mr. Villard is quite right in his position. But he might have gone a bit further and added that in many cases news that is legitimate news, news that the public should be informed of, is withheld from representatives of the press by individuals for personal or private motives. If the public would take the press into their confidence more they would not find this confidence betrayed and there would not be so much cause for complaint over inaccurate reports or stories published.

THE SEVENTH INVASION.

The seventh invasion of England, directly or through her maritime commerce, has begun. The other six that were to have been, have thus far failed to materialize successfully and the world awaits the latest development of modern warfare by the calling into play of submarines. This is the seventh threat sent out from Berlin and just at this time it is worth while to recall the other six.

First—The British empire, being held together by imperial power, must break up as a result of war with united and homogeneous Germany. India, South Africa, Egypt, Ireland were to fight England for their freedom at this heaven-sent opportunity; while Canada was to annex herself to the United States, and Australia would seize the chance to declare her independence.

Second—England's commerce would be invaded, and largely destroyed, by the roving warships of Germany.

Third—The English navy would be worn down by piecemeal destruction, called "attrition," until the German fleet could safely give battle to what was left of it.

Fourth—A fleet of Zeppelins would invade England, attacking her coast defenses, and laying waste her greatest cities.

Fifth—On the taking of Dunkirk and Calais new Krupp guns, mounted on the continental coast would shell the opposite English shore, making a special Krupp invasion of England.

Sixth—A fleet of transports was forming for the land invasion of England by the German army.

There is no reason in the world why the coming Janesville fair should not be one of the most successful exhibitions of its kind held during the coming summer and early fall. There is no fair that has the same advantages as is offered here. Aside from the convenient location of the grounds, their level character, the excellence of the track, the buildings erected last year are the latest thing in fair construction. There are no patched up sheep pens, no broken down swine quarters and the grandstand is by far the best in this section of the country.

While it comes earlier in the season than most fairs, it assures the visitors one of the best fields of horses that will assemble on any track in Wisconsin during the coming year. The Janesville fair is a Rock county institution and should be given liberal support by citizens generally. It is not too early to begin boosting, and while many may feel justified in criticism of its management and management, a word of praise will go much further, and the old adage that you can catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar is true.

WHY DELAY?

There are several cases on the court docket of cases that have been brought by the district attorney and the city attorney that have been pending for a long time without any particular attention being paid to them. They were instituted with great eclat but have been permitted to be pigeon-holed by some reason or other. One case in particular, in the city attorney's department, that of a saloon proprietor charged with violation of the ordinances relative to keeping closed after hours and on election days, has been on the docket since last November. In justice to others who obey the law, the question is asked: Why the delay? What is the reason for non-prosecution? It is up to the city official in question to take some action or dismiss the suit.

Today is Washington's birthday. One day in the year when a grateful nation pays homage to one of the great men of the world. First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen Washington has justly been called the "Father of his Country," and we, his children of the third and fourth generation, honor his memory.

Milwaukee may laugh at the bill which proposes to remove the state fair from its present location, but they want to stop smiling and think seriously of the subject when they judge the temper of the legislators who are assembled at Madison this winter.

It will soon be spring planting time and it is safe to say that the crops planted this year will be with a view to a possible shortage in the world's food supply next fall by the continuance of the European war.

One American ship has already been sunk by a floating mine almost within sight of the harbor it was destined for. Thus far Germany's blockade has been something more than a paper one if the number of ships sunk are to be judged.

The Mexican rebels continue to fight it out between themselves and Mexico City is fast becoming used to a new president every day or two just for a variety.

The legislature has a hard row to hoe when it comes to weeding out the numerous bills that have been presented for consideration. However, the work will be well done to say the least.

This taste of spring makes us all wish that it was to be a reality instead of simply a sample of what we may expect.

First Bank Notes.

The Chinese were the first people to issue bank notes. They started in this business 27 centuries before the birth of Christ. One of these bank notes may still be seen in the Asiatic Museum, Petrograd. It is printed in blue, on white paper made from mulberry tree fiber. Round the margin is a motto which rather indicates that the first Chinese banker was of Scotch origin. It reads: "However much you may possess, strive to be thrifty."

Henry Ford, he says, by jing, every convict in Sing Sing. He could make into a man. On his profane plan. He could take and reconstruct 'em. He could make 'em white as snow. In perhaps a year or so. He could grab the hardened sinner. And make him into a winner. He could change the leopard's spots. And wipe out all evil plots. After they'd been through his system it would be a joy to list 'em. All as citizens upon their hips. And triumphant in their might. Ford is great. Can't do without him. And we do not care to doubt him. But to the common law. It would list some job. To convert the old purse jerkers. And the second story workers. And the gunmen and the dips. With the "G" upon their hips. If Ford wants us. Well, we're mostly from Missouri.

ROUMANIA WILL NOT JOIN IN WORLD'S WAR

Reasons For Safeguarding German Friendship Set Forth by Balkan States.

Bukharest, Feb. 22.—Ever since England's offer of speedy loan to Roumania for new army expenditure the Anglo-French press has been prophesying that Roumania will soon enter the war on the side of the allies. This is the opinion of a high member of the Roumanian government, who writes to the Bukharest Seara in the following strain:

"We cannot and will not take action against the central powers with whom we have hitherto been allied. Nor can we accept service under Russia. Public opinion will quiet down. It finds out that war with Austria-Hungary is impossible for us. It is easy to declare war in the cafes of Bukharest, but if those who thus advocate war were at the head of our public affairs they would soon become the most ardent champions of peace."

"People talk a great deal of our brave little army. But our army would be but a drop in the sea, considering the fact that 10,000,000 soldiers are in the field. Germany has an army of 4,000,000 new men ready for action. France is preparing a new army amounting to 1,500,000 men. England, too, is doing her utmost to put new men in the field. Austria can put forth at least another million."

"Nobody knows what the end of the war will be, and it would be sheer madness on our part if we were to plunge into a combat in which we might lose all. We cannot reckon on England and Russia's support. I should like to see the simpleton who sincerely believes that Russia wishes for a greater Roumania."

"What can we expect from France? Well, she has seized the sums which we sent to Paris to pay the rente. The torpedoes meant for our Danubian flotilla have already been paid for, but the French have withheld the power that has given us unconditional support for forty years. We have spurned that friendship when enemies surround us from all sides and the question of the Black sea and the Bosphorus is the border of the day? We certainly want no war and least of all with Austria-Hungary."

War---the More Pitiless, the More Merciful; Victory Goes to Side With Best Nerve, Says von Hindenburg

Berlin, Feb. 22.—General von Hindenburg, the great commanding figure of the war on the German side, was recently interviewed at the eastern front by Paul Goldmann, a Berlin correspondent. What he has to say is of especial interest in view of his great achievement in rolling back the big Russian armies from East Prussia. The "old man of the lakes," as he is known in Germany, has made a lifetime study of the problem of defense against Russia, and when the war broke out he proved to be the man of the hour.

With regard to the Russians, General von Hindenburg told the interviewer:

They are good soldiers; they observe discipline. Discipline finally decides the campaign, but the Russian discipline is somewhat different from that of Germany and Austria-Hungary. In our army it is more the result of mental ethics, but in the Russian army it is a dumb, stupid obedience.

The Russians have learned much since their war with Japan. Their strength is in their intrenchments; they know how to intrench themselves wonderfully. When the ground under the digging came to an end, that is one of the advantages which a winter's campaign against the Russians brings to us. It fares badly burrow into the earth.

We are not afraid of the superior numbers of the Russians; that is their principal weapon. They were three times as strong as we were at Tannenberg; yet we saw how much good it did them. Besides, the lack of superior numbers is not always a deciding feature, especially not at this stage of the war.

The Russians cannot hold us down; in fact they are weakening. All indications point to the fact that they will soon be finished. They are beginning to lack arms and ammunition. They are almost starving; even the officers lack food. The country is in distress—Lodz is suffering famine; it is pitiful but it is a good thing.

One cannot carry on warfare with sentimentality. The more pitiless the warfare is, the more merciful it is in reality, for it leads to a more speedy termination. It is also apparent by the war that Russian soldiers fight, that they cannot resist much longer.

The war with Russia is above everything else a matter of nerve. If Germany and Austria-Hungary have stronger nerves—and they have them and will endure—then the victory is theirs.

In reply to a question as to his experience in cooperation with von Hindenburg, he replied:

The Austrians and Hungarians are splendid soldiers; men and officers are courageous and brave. We fight shoulder to shoulder and place our highest hopes on the continuation of this co-operative warfare. We value the Austrians and Hungarians as excellent comrades. The relations between the chief commands of the combined armies are most pleasant. At present we are in active communication with General Danki, leader of the 1st army corps, with which we are in touch.

At the outbreak of the war, von Hindenburg was living in retirement, but when the Russians began to look formidable, and the Germans suffered some early reverses, the Kaiser decided to call upon the man who had made the defense of the Masurian lake region the careful study of a lifetime. A special train was fitted up to rush the general to Berlin, and when he reached headquarters, a high-powered automobile was ready to hurry him to the East Prussian front.

What followed will go into history as one of the greatest campaigns the world has known. The battle of Tannenberg, resulting in the practical annihilation of an entire Russian army, was a triumph for the man who had been laughed at by younger army officers for his hobby.

When von Hindenburg was an instructor at military schools, the younger men were fond of drawing his fire by asking him why it was impractical to defend the Masurian lake country against the Russians. This was always good for a trade, followed by an earnest exposition of the strategic value of the marshy lake country as a means of defense and of trapping invaders. When ever he got a chance, he secured a small detail of infantry, a field piece, and a few cavalrymen, and tried out his ideas in the lake region, which he knew perfectly.

Once von Hindenburg saw fit to criticize one of the Kaiser's military ideas. His subsequent retirement was by some thought to be due to this frankness.

From comparative obscurity, von Hindenburg has in a few months reached the pinnacle of national idolatry. The Kaiser himself is not much more popular. Gifts of every nature are showered upon him by his admirers. Although he does not smoke, he receives enough cigars to keep a regiment going at forced draught.

The "old man of the lakes" is well pleased at his great vindication, following the years of scoffing.

WATER RAISES FAST BUT NO DANGER IS EXPECTED IN CITY

Register at Power Plant Twenty-Four Inches Above Mark—More Dead Carp Come Down River With Ice.

Rock river is on its annual rampage. Whether Janesville will suffer from the floods of water and ice this spring depends on the disposition of the weather man. This morning the Janesville electric plant showed the height of the water mark at the main height of the government mark, 24 inches high since Sunday morning, which is exceedingly high, considering the time of the year.

The ice is breaking up in vast quantities, but the long warm spell has melted it and broken up the ice and a fraction of the small size ice is coming down. The ice at Lake Koshkonong is beginning to break up and is expected to be in the river by the time the water comes down. The plants at the power plant are not so much worried as the farmers who are worried about the crops. A long heavy rain or snow, which would mean serious trouble in some places because of high water. All the creeks are swollen and pouring an immense volume of water into the Rock.

Considerable damage is being felt at Beloit regarding the safety of the Grand avenue bridge, but serious danger is not imminent because of the thickness and small size of the ice. Last week during the past few days the ice started down, and was loosened under the S. G. Strong heavy barn and one end of the structure sank about a foot.

The records at the electric plant show that the height of the water a year ago today was but 4.5 inches above the government mark. The flood wave of March 30th was 36 inches, the record mark in recent years. Some damage was caused that year. In September last year the water rose up to 33 inches and no serious trouble was done. Recent repairs on the three water power dams at Janesville and Beloit insure that they will provide adequate power for the spring freshets.

Coming down with the waters are hundreds of thousands of dead carp. The majority of them have been frozen in the ice and are in a bad stage of decay. While others are on the verge of death, being too weak to resist the strong current. At the Monterey plant, where the river swings in through the gates with the strong current, there are thousands of these dead fish, which are collected daily to prevent a stoppage of water. Ten times this number go on down the river and to estimate the number that have been carried down during the last four months would be impossible. At the upper plant about the same number of dead fish are being carried down the river. At Monterey the dead fish have been piled up like cord wood and many tons have been collected. In the upper reaches on North river, the breaking up of the ice has exposed the fish and the stench is noticeable several blocks away from the water. At the Beloit plant the race is thick with them and it will be a hard problem to remove them.

The upper dam many of the dead carp have been caught in the whirlpool and fish two and three feet long can be seen on the surface of the back current. At Fulton also, thousands of the carp have been taken from in front of the gates.

GET SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR BIBLES NEEDED

Gideons Succeed in Securing Fifty-five Bibles for Dormitories at Y. M. C. A. at Meeting Sunday.

It took little effort on the part of the Gideons Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building to get the forty-five Bibles needed to be placed in the dormitories of the institution, once the proposition was put to the men present.

George A. Jacobs of this city, and a Gideon, led the meeting and was assisted by several other representatives of the traveling men's organization. The Y. M. C. A. here makes the fourth place in Janesville where the Gideons have placed Bibles, the Myers, Grand and Park hotels being the other three.

Associate Secretary R. C. Mackenzie of the association was instrumental in getting speakers for the meeting yesterday, for he saw the need of Bibles in the dormitories. The Gideons were very successful in this undertaking as they have been on so many similar occasions heretofore.

Committee of Railroad Men Circulate Petition Among Janesville Citizens.

F. W. Zimmerman, local agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, Otto F. Schlicker and D. E. Davy, employees of the same company, compose a committee which has charge of a petition for circulation among Janesville residents, the object of which is to secure the endorsement of the move of railroads in Wisconsin to secure an advance of half a cent a mile in passenger fares within the state.

The statement and petition which was presented last week to the legislature is affixed to the papers which the local agent has addressed to the general manager of the road, in which he briefly states the Wisconsin railroad situation.

Among other things the letter says: "The two cent law was passed in this state and the railroads accepted it and made a sincere effort to live under it without letting passengers be forced to pay higher fares than service be impaired. The law has not worked out as its advocates expected. The contention that the railroads would stimulate travel and thereby make up the revenue lost has not been borne out by experience, while expenses have constantly increased, and a petition has been filed with the legislature requesting an investigation and if conditions are as represented an advance of the present two cent per mile maximum passenger fare to two and one-half cents per mile."

"First: The petition is for a fair and full investigation of the reasonableness of the present two cent maximum passenger fare per mile in the state of Wisconsin, and report to the present session of the legislature the result of such legislative or other investigation."

Second: The petition requires further that if such report is favorable to such advance in the maximum fare from two to two and one-half cents per mile, that the legislature will pass a law to that effect, providing for an advance in the maximum fare per mile from two to two and one-half cents per mile."

The petition will be in circulation during the present week and will be sent into the company's headquarters on or before March 1st.

James Gibson of White Plains, N. Y., a prominent breeder of Holstein cattle, arrived in Janesville yesterday to negotiate with Archie Reid, Jr., for the purchase of a crack Holstein cow owned by Mr. Reid. They went to Fond du Lac today to inspect the animal which the Reid farm there.

The mother of the sire owned by Gibson and is now on a special test. If she should yield 38 to 40 pounds of butter fat Mr. Reid's bull will be worth a small fortune. An uncle of the sire in question recently sold for $25,000.

PRESBYTERIANS SAY UNITE CHURCH UNITS

Session Here Says Eliminate Useless Community Church and Throw Spiritual Incinations to Strongest.

Communities over-churches and fostering a plan to bring about a unification of Protestant congregations, where such conditions are prevalent, were considered here last week by members of the Home Mission Committee of the Madison Presbytery of the division of the Presbyterian church in this section of the country. The session was attended by seven ministers and was held in the study of the Rev. George Edwin Parlosie in the Haystack building.

The Madison Presbytery includes the lower tier of counties in Wisconsin. In a great number of communities, with populations of 200 and less, several different religious denominations maintain churches, together with ministers. According to the Rev. Parlosie, this morning, it is the idea of the Madison Presbytery to bring religion down to a higher state of efficiency in the unification of the different denominations to the one people community. Some villages, said, with fifty or sixty families, have as many, in some cases, as four denominations under one head and to a single unit and will mean the entire elimination of the useless churches. Some trouble the Rev. Parlosie thought, would be experienced in securing the adherence of church members of other denominations to the idea.

The plan will affect every community in the southern half of Wisconsin, and providing it matures, will be felt by every community in Wisconsin in which the Presbyterian church is doing work, exclusive of places where the Home Mission fields are located.

Aside from giving grave consideration to the unification plans, the committee placed in nomination the name of the Rev. C. L. Richards of Polkette as chairman of the Home Mission committee of the Madison Presbytery.

METHODIST STANDARD BEARERS MEET IN CHURCH PARLORS

The Standard Bearers of the Methodist church will hold a regular meeting this evening at the church parlors. Miss Voightlander, a returned missionary from India, will address the meeting, and all the members of both divisions of the Standard Bearers are urged to be present.

Attention Lakotas: There will be an important meeting of the Lakota club on Tuesday evening in the club rooms.

A CROUP SCARE

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound Quickly Masters It.

CROUP SCARES YOU. That loud, hoarse, croupy cough, that choking and stifling for breath, that labored breathing, have only too often brought fatal results. Lucky the parents who have Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house, for you can be sure that the very first doses will master the croup.

"I'll get a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and stop being scared of croup!"

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cuts the thick mucus and clears away the phlegm. It opens up and eases the air passages, stops the strangling cough, and gives quiet easy breathing, and peaceful sleep. No wonder a man in Texas walked 15 miles to a drug store to get Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. P. H. GINN, Middleton, Ga., says: "I always give my children Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in every instance they get quick relief and are soon sleeping sweetly." Every good druggist is glad to sell Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for all croup, colds, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis and all types of coughs, and other throat and lung troubles. It satisfies every user, it helps infants, children and grown persons, and it never contains opiates. In 25c, 50c, $1.00 sizes.

 EVERY USER IS A FRIEND.

For sale by W. T. Sherer.

Really Hard Thing to Do. It is no great matter to associate with the good and gentle, for this is naturally pleasing to all; and even one willingly enjoys peace and loves those best that agree with him. But to be able to live peacefully with hard and perverse persons, or with the disorderly, or with such as are contrary to us, is a great grace and a most commendable and manly thing.—Thomas a Kempis.

THE LADY AND THE PIRATE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1913, by Emerson Hough

And that night—that very night, that very wondrous, silent, throbbing night of the Sabbath and the south, when all the air was, as it seemed to me, in saturation, in a suspense of ecstasy, to be broken, to be precipitated, by a word, a motion, a curse, a note—that night, I say, as I sat on the forward deck alone, I heard, far off and faint as though, indeed, it were the tute of Andalusia, the low, slow, deep throb of a guitar! My whole heart stopped. I was no more than a focused demand of life. Reason was gone from me. Not intellect, but emotion—that is its basic thing, after all, emotion born on earth, but reaching to the stars. I listened, not hearing. It was the air we had heard long ago—a love song of old Spain, written, perhaps, before De Soto and his men perished in these very bayous and forests that now shielded us against all tumult, all turmoil, all things unhappy or unpleasant. The full tide of life and love swept through my veins as I listened.

I rose, I hastened. At her door I paused. "Helena!" I called raucously. "Helena!" And she made no reply. "Helena!" I called again. "It was the same old air. This is Spain again! Ah, I thank you for that same old air. Helena, forgive me. May I come in—will you come out?"

I halted. A cold voice came from the companionway door. "You have a poor ear for music, John Doe. It is not the same. Do you think I would take orders from you or any other man?" I stood irresolute a moment and then did what I should not have done. I pulled open her door. "Come out," I demanded. But then I closed the door and went away. She was sitting, her head bowed on the instrument she had played. And when she looked up, startled at my rudeness, I saw her eyes wet with tears.

CHAPTER XIII.

In Which We Make a Run For It.

I FACED the next morning the alternative of setting her free, and once more taking up the aimless and unhappy life I had led these last three years without sight of her. Something—I suppose the great selfishness which lies under love—rose up and said to me nay, and I began to make excuses in favor of my desire, as that, surely, soon she would come to a more reasonable way of thought. And in one thing at least I was honest with myself, deceitful as are lovers with themselves and arguing ever in their own favor. I did not know why Helena had wept, and it was perhaps my right to know.

"What ho! Black Bart," said Jean Lafitte after his third helping of brandy, "why does our good ship lie here idle at her anchor?"

"Ask Captain Peterson," said I. "He perhaps can tell where we can get more gasoline."

"No, he can't. I asked him this morning."

"Then 'twould seem we must lie here all winter, unless discovered by some relief expedition."

"Why don't we start a relief expedition of our own?" demanded he.

"And how?"

"Why, me and Willy, the deck hand, we'll take the longboat and go out and explore this region roundabout. Somebody may have gasoline somewhere, and if so we can get it, can't we?"

"Your idea is excellent, Jean Lafitte," said I. "Within the hour you shall set forth to see whether or not there is any settlement on this bayou. And, that you may not need use violence when secrecy is our wish, here is a fat purse for our stores. And hasten, for of a truth, Jean Lafitte, I am most weary of this very morning, and I long to see the white seas roll once more."

"It's all right," called out Jean Lafitte when he came within hail in the afternoon. And I saw now that he indeed had a boat's load of gasoline in tanks, cans and all manner of receptacles.

"Town and a store down there five miles," he explained as I caught his gunwale with boat hook. "You can get anything there. Now, the Glants and the Cubs, why, they tied in the 'leventh inning yesterday. And say—"

"Enough!" said I. "Let me hear nothing of the cursed Glants or the yet more serious work about. Tell me, is there a bar cutting off the other end of the bayou, and how long is the bayou?"

"Sixteen miles," answered the useful Lafitte, "and she seems like good water all the way. They say there's seven foot on the bar, and the wood boats run in and out."

And that very night, with our searchlight half covered and at slow speed and with the sounding lead going, Peterson felt his way out from our moorings and along the full length of Henry's bayou silently as he might.

"Jimmy!" I called.

"Aye, aye, sir!" And L'Olonnois saluted.

"You remember all those bottles floating around in the bayou—did you take them all up?"

"Aye, aye, sir, and she threw a lot more in out of the cabin window. I was shooting at 'em with the twenty-two and busted some."

"But not all?"

"And we sailed away, leaving there no doubt the full story of our voyage. Full speed ahead, now, Peterson," I added later as I went forward. "Run for New Orleans and with all you can get out of her."

It was 9 of an fine a winter morning as the south ever saw when at last, having passed without pause all intervening perils, we found ourselves at the city of New Orleans.

"Peterson," I said, calling him to me, "go to the ship's furnisher. Tell them to have all our supplies at slip K, below the railway warehouses, not later than 9 this evening. We want four drums of gasoline; also get 2,000 rounds of ammunition for the twelve gauges, ducking loads, for we may want to do some shooting. We also want two or three cases of grapefruit and oranges, and any good fresh vegetables in market."

The old man touched his cap, but hesitated. "I'm sure to be asked something," he said somewhat nervously.

"Say nothing about any change of ownership of this boat, Peterson, and don't even give the boat's name unless you must. Just say we will meet their shipping clerk at slip K this evening at 9. Hurry back, Peterson, and bring a newspaper, please."

He departed mournfully enough, seeing that the ferryboat now was coming across with the railway train. I continued my own muzzy padding up and down the deck. Truth was, I had not seen Helena for more than twenty-four hours, nor had any word come from the ladies' cabin to give me hope I ever would see her again of her own will. My surprise, therefore, was great enough when I heard the after cabin door close gently as she came out upon the deck.

"Good morning," said she casually, as though we had parted but lately and that conventionally. "Isn't it fine?"

"It is a beautiful picture," said I, "and you fit into it. I am glad to see you looking so well."

"I wish I could say as much for you," said she. "You look like a forlorn hope."

"I am nothing better,"

"And as though you had not slept."

"I have not, Helena."

"Why not?" her eyes wide open in surprise. "Because I knew I had either hurt or offended you, and I would do neither."

"You have done both so often that it should not cost you your sleep," said she slowly. "But if you really want to be kind why can you not have mercy on a girl who has been packed in a hothouse for a month? Let me go ashore?"

"Can you not breathe quite as well where you are, Helena?"

"But I can't walk."

"Oh, yes, you can, and I will walk beside you here on deck."

"But I would like to pick flowers over there by the embankment."

"The train is too close," said I, smiling grimly.

Her color heightened just a little, but she did not answer my suspicion.

"Please let me walk with you over there," she said. "I used not to need ask twice."

"Our situation is now reversed, Helena."

"Please let me walk with you, sir!"

"I dare not. We might both forget ourselves and go off to New Orleans for a lark without Aunt Lucinda."

"Oh, I am going to call Aunt Lucinda too."

"Pardon, but you are going to do nothing of the kind. Even with her as chaperon, did we get down there in the old city once more, like the children we once were, Helena, we would forget our duty, would, perhaps, forget our purpose here. Mademoiselle, I dare not take that risk."

"Please, sir, may I walk with you ever yonder for just a little time?" she said, as though it were her first request. She was trying her quaint little white bonnet strings under her chin now. "I raised a hand."

"You ask a man to put himself into the power of the woman he loves most in all the world. When a man needs resolution dare he look into the eyes of that woman, feel her hand on his arm, have her walk close to him as they promenade?"

"Dear me! Is it so bad as that?"

"Worse, Helena."

"Then I am to continue a prisoner in that hothouse?"

"Until you love me, Helena, as I do you."

"As I told you, that would be a long time."

"Yes! For never in the world can you love me as I do you. I had forgotten that."

"If only you could forget everything and just be a nice young man," said she. "It is such fun. This dear old town, don't you know? Now, with a nice young man to go about with Aunt Lucinda and me?"

"How would a man like Calvin Davidson do?" I demanded bitterly.

"Very well. He is nice enough."

"I suppose so. He is rich, able to have his horses and cars—even his private yacht. He can order a dinner in any country in the world or tell you the standing of any club in either league at any minute of the day or night. Could I say more for his education? He has two country places and a city house and a business which nets him a hundred thousand a year. How can he help being nice? I do not resemble Mr. Davidson, in any particular, except that I am wearing one of his waistcoats. Also, Helena, I am wearing a suit of fannels which I have borrowed from John, his Chinese cook. You can readily see I am a poor man."

surprise. "Because I knew I had either hurt or offended you, and I would do neither."

"You have done both so often that it should not cost you your sleep," said she slowly. "But if you really want to be kind why can you not have mercy on a girl who has been packed in a hothouse for a month? Let me go ashore?"

"Can you not breathe quite as well where you are, Helena?"

"But I can't walk."

"Oh, yes, you can, and I will walk beside you here on deck."

"But I would like to pick flowers over there by the embankment."

"The train is too close," said I, smiling grimly.

Her color heightened just a little, but she did not answer my suspicion.

"Please let me walk with you over there," she said. "I used not to need ask twice."

"Our situation is now reversed, Helena."

"Please let me walk with you, sir!"

"I dare not. We might both forget ourselves and go off to New Orleans for a lark without Aunt Lucinda."

"Oh, I am going to call Aunt Lucinda too."

"Pardon, but you are going to do nothing of the kind. Even with her as chaperon, did we get down there in the old city once more, like the children we once were, Helena, we would forget our duty, would, perhaps, forget our purpose here. Mademoiselle, I dare not take that risk."

"Please, sir, may I walk with you ever yonder for just a little time?" she said, as though it were her first request. She was trying her quaint little white bonnet strings under her chin now. "I raised a hand."

"You ask a man to put himself into the power of the woman he loves most in all the world. When a man needs resolution dare he look into the eyes of that woman, feel her hand on his arm, have her walk close to him as they promenade?"

"Dear me! Is it so bad as that?"

"Worse, Helena."

"Then I am to continue a prisoner in that hothouse?"

"Until you love me, Helena, as I do you."

"As I told you, that would be a long time."

"Yes! For never in the world can you love me as I do you. I had forgotten that."

"If only you could forget everything and just be a nice young man," said she. "It is such fun. This dear old town, don't you know? Now, with a nice young man to go about with Aunt Lucinda and me?"

"How would a man like Calvin Davidson do?" I demanded bitterly.

"Very well. He is nice enough."

"I suppose so. He is rich, able to have his horses and cars—even his private yacht. He can order a dinner in any country in the world or tell you the standing of any club in either league at any minute of the day or night. Could I say more for his education? Dinner Stories

"What's that piece of cord tied around your finger for?"

"My wife put it there to remind me to post a letter."

"And did you post it?"

"No; she forgot to give it to me."

The following anecdote is illustrative of eviction days in Ireland. Pat had served part of his time as a bricklayer in the "old country." On arrival in America, he was watching some bricklayers at work, when the foreman observed to him:

"Can they do it as quick as that in Ireland, Pat?"

"They can, indeed, and twice as quick," answered Pat.

"Do you know," said the foreman, "that we start a house here in the morning and the landlord is evicting the tenant for back rent before evening?"

A young American woman was anxious to be present at an European court, but the high officials, having inquired into her social standing at home, objected. They represented to her that the king could scarcely receive the daughter of a man who sold boots and shoes. The young woman cabled home and told her father the situation. The next morning she received his answer: "Bosh! It isn't selling. Practically giving them away." See advertisement. That solved the difficulty. She was presented as the daughter of an eminent philanthropist.

THE BIGGEST FACTOR IN WISCONSIN PUBLICITY THE WISCONSIN DAILY LEAGUE

Every Day To More Than 110,000 Homes

There is no more potent force in the State of Wisconsin today than the 25 Daily Newspapers comprising the Wisconsin Daily League.

Its powers for business creation are several fold: 1st. It reaches more high grade families than any other publicity medium.

2nd. It offers its bureau of information about local conditions, representatives, stocks, etc., by personal touch—facts procurable in no other way.

3rd. It assists its customers to permanent business connections where it is practical to do so.

The elimination of extra expense, work and trouble in securing circulation data, in placing orders in paying for service is appreciated by advertisers generally. One order one check in payment to the secretary and Wisconsin is pretty well taken care of.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

WHEN CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and gested food passes out of the system and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-up plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

EXPOUNDS CHRIST'S ECONOMICS RIDDLE

DR. S. T. KIDDER TELLS HOW MEN MAY DEVELOP BY EXERCISING THEIR BEST EFFORTS.

MAKE USE OF TALENTS

Persons Who Grasp Their Opportunities Are Those Who Achieve Success—Fannie Crosby's Life Reviewed.

Dr. S. T. Kidder completed on Sunday a year of service as temporary pastor at the Congregational church. He expected that the Rev. Charles E. Bwing and his wife will arrive in Janesville this week and the new pastor will occupy the pulpit next Sunday. Dr. Kidder will continue his work as interim pastor for churches of his denomination in Wisconsin, his first place of service being at Menasha.

In his sermon last evening Dr. Kidder talked about one of the statements which Christ was fond of repeating. It is found several times in the gospels and it reads in Matthew 25, 12 as follows: "For whosoever hath to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance; but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that which he hath."

"It is a common law of nature and of grace," said the speaker. "It is a rule which applies in every walk of life. It does not necessarily mean that the poor man shall become poorer and that the rich man shall become more wealthy, and it sets no price on the careful plotting and scheming of some men in order that they may make their pile fifty and a hundred percent while some less fortunate persons, perhaps, suffer as a result."

"But there is no getting round the fact that even the poor man has the opportunity to do his best and if he makes use of the opportunities that present themselves he cannot help but grow richer and more prosperous. Not only does the statement apply, I believe, to the intellectual, the moral and the spiritual, but even to the commercial, the political and the social. The man who is most adept in his talents, in whatever line they may be, humble or brilliant, develops them to his own improvement and to the benefit of others."

"The rule applies plainly to our thinking faculties. It is a recognized fact in pedagogy that the intellect develops only as it is used. The more it is used the more it grows and the more valuable the mind becomes. For the man who works with his hands, the more practice he has in his trade, the more skillful he becomes. Every man in fact becomes a specialist in his own line, and the more he gains or the more he loses according to the manner in which he uses what he has. As Emerson says in 'Commonplace,' 'They do not do the thing have not the power.'"

"God expects every man to do his best. Opportunities are offered on every side. The schools, colleges, universities, churches, Sunday schools, provide the best help. They give us the Saviour which means that the opportunity of giving and receiving from the divine character."

"Another aspect of the text is that it urges us to do our best with what we have. Somewhere every man has his chance to double his talent. He who shrinks will not be worthy of the Son of God. God asks every man to do his best, and as some have more than others, either through inherited resources or through their own efforts, the more is expected of him. We cannot determine the circumstances of birth, but we can do right. As far as we know how we can do our best, which is all that God demands. God is no hard master. We can attain perfection insofar as perfection means sincerity to high ideals and noble purposes, faithful and full grown manhood. We can attain to that measure and God has a right to ask for nothing less."

"The boys in their sports and games are constantly called upon to do the part to the very best of their ability. It should be the same in our daily life. God only asks that we be faithful and true. Mistakes we will make, but they need not harm us if we profit by them and make less mistakes as we grow stronger in the use of what we have. He who tries to do his best will be better off. There is no luck or chance about it; the temperate even may be a help and the sunshine and fair weather may hinder. He who wills and persists will achieve."

"The law is double-edged. He who will not do his best will do worse and he loses his opportunity. Unless he shall be faithful to his trust and use his talents, he means they should be used, he will miss the path and what might have been made to increase a hundred fold will be prostrated and defamed. A man can be faithful and true though stupid. As Emerson says: 'To be great is to make the most of divine opportunities.' Neither capital, nor competition cuts much figure."

"At the service last evening Mr. Hogan of St. Louis, who is a guest in this city, gave a short talk on the life and work of Fanny Crosby, the great hymn writer whose demise occurred last week. Mr. Hogan lived for some years at Brooklyn, a neighbor to Mrs. Jos. F. Knapp, a woman of wealth and influence who wrote much of the music for Fanny Crosby's songs. In this way he learned much of the life of Miss Crosby and often met her when she came to spend weeks at a time at the home of her friend.

"Stricken blind while a babe, she could not remember of having seen," said Mr. Hogan. "She attended the New York asylum for the blind and later married one of the teachers there. Prof. Van Alstyne who was also blind. Early in her life she gained facility in the writing of songs and she seemed to acquire a peculiar understanding of the scriptures. All of her hymns came from the heart and were marked by the deepest earnestness and sincerity. At one time she left the asylum, determined to make her own way by the use of her pen. She took humble quarters, but soon found that she was badly in debt. Discouraged she prayed for divine aid and guidance. As she prayed a knock came and the wife of a New York publisher called with a check for $100, which aided her over her difficulties. One of her best and most inspiring hymns was written as the result of this experience."

"Never was a complaint heard from her because of her affliction. At one time when Mrs. Knapp went into her room after she had been absent some time, she found many persons turned to Christ as a result of her songs. She turned and said: 'I'm so glad that I am blind. Had I believed Mrs. Knapp asked me to write hymns, I would have been as glad as you to write as I have. She always wore a smile and her disposition was always sunny and happy. She poured out her songs from her heart, oftentimes without seeming effort.'"

Fanny Crosby is said to have written 8,000 hymns. Sometimes she

EXCELLENT DRAMA AT MYERS THEATRE

"Today," Presented Last Evening, Splendid Exposition of New York Life.

The modern mania of the metropolitan woman, love for fine dress; and what it is liable to lead to was shown in all its phases at Myers Theatre last evening in the big, gripping drama, "Today."

This drama is the kind that causes one to pause and think and to wonder where the American craze for style is going to bring those who bow down to its appeal.

The company which presented the attraction was well balanced, the acting was most beautiful and without doubt the best seen here this season. The many of gowns and hats used throughout the performance were most exquisite creations of the dressmakers' and milliners' arts.

The part of the weak, wayward wife was played by Miss Eleanor Miller in excellent manner. Frederick Wagner, the unfortunate husband, was part ably handled by Hallett Thompson. His parents, Germans of the older school, were played by Marie Reichardt and Anton Ascher, more or less humorous parts, which relieved the tense situations in which the action unfolded. Mrs. Farthington, a woman of doubtful reputation, was ably handled by Marie Dantes. Mrs. Garland, the temptress, whose philosophies delighted the audience, was played by Phoebe Bates. The minor parts, butler and policeman were equally well presented.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Feb. 20.—Mrs. W. S. Carr, who has been spending the past two weeks at Whitewater, returned home on Friday evening.

Cap. Campbell of Chicago, who has been in this vicinity for a few days purchasing tobacco, left Saturday morning for points in Illinois where he has made some purchases of a few choice crops.

Mrs. E. C. Danks and family of Madison, came down from the City on Friday evening and spent Sunday with Mrs. Schenk's mother, Mrs. J. H. Sater.

I. R. Rathbun's sale on Saturday was well attended, and articles brought a good price.

Mrs. George Pankhurst entertained a company of ladies on Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Mass, who expects to move onto their farm in the town of Spring Valley in a few days.

A large number of friends and relatives from the village attended the funeral of the late Charles Lee of Beloit at the Luther Valley church on Saturday afternoon.

Frank Ashby and son Stanley of Janesville, spent the day in Janesville on Saturday.

Mrs. Rocina Shuster of Cherokee, Iowa, arrived in the village on Saturday, and will spend several days attending to business matters here.

Rev. G. W. Dennison of Bayfield, is spending a few days in this section. He is just returning from Ottawa, Canada, where he has spent the last two months.

AFTON

Afton, Feb. 19.—A special meeting of Solid Rock Camp R. N. A. was held at the home of the recorder, Miss Ella C. Ealing, Tuesday afternoon. Several important items of business were transacted, some of which were the election of Mrs. Griffin to the office of manager to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Arnold; a class was initiated and the chancellor, Mrs. Nellie McCrea, was installed. It was voted to meet at eleven o'clock the next regular meeting day, Thursday, March 4, at Brinkman's hall. A picnic dinner will be served at noon with a business meeting and social afternoon following. A good attendance is urged.

Albert Bartels has traded his farm to a Mr. Linderman of Wanawae, Wis., for a store at that place. Mr. Bartels will leave with his family for his new home soon.

There will be a box social and program given by the pupils of the state graded school at the school house Friday evening, Feb. 26, the proceeds to be used for furnishings at the school house. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Eva Griffin to John Van Dusen, which took place at New Smyrna, Florida, Feb. 14, at the home of the groom's parents. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin of this place, and is a popular young lady here, where she spent her entire life, with the exception of a few months spent at Florida. They will probably reside at New Smyrna.

Mrs. Kendig, who has been quite ill with bronchial pneumonia, is gaining very slowly. Other complications have developed which are hindering her recovery.

Ether Brinkman has rented the farm which he recently purchased of Mr. Clark, to Charles Good, who will take possession March 1.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" ENDS ALL STOMACH DISTRESS IN FIVE MINUTES.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—its digesting food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

FEAR CHINATOWN WAR BECAUSE OF MURDERS

History of Feud Cases Among New York Chinese Show Revenge Spirit Among Clans.

New York, Feb. 22.—There are two men in New York's Chinatown who are marked for death. Who they are is not known. Who their murderers are is not known. When they are killed is not known. But they are marked for death just as surely as the sun will rise tomorrow. It may come tomorrow; it may come next week, or it may come next summer—no one knows. Inspector Wakefield of the Police Department wishes he did. But he can only wait.

Ever since the electrocution of Eng Hing and Lee Dock, two Hip Sing hat-chet men, at Sing Sing several weeks ago, another long war has been smoldering in Chinatown. And it will continue to smolder until it breaks forth in the flame that will mean death to two members of the On Leongs. It is the law of Chinatown, and as irrevocable as the law of Nature.

Eng Hing and Lee Dock had evened up the score between the Hip Sings and the On Leongs. They killed Leo Kay, and On Leong, almost two years ago. They had been in prison ever since. While they lived in prison evened. When they died it became uneven again. It must be balanced.

The smoldering almost broke out at the funeral of the two men. It was one of the most gorgeous Chinatown funerals ever seen. They were heroes in the eyes of their brethren, martyrs, not murderers they stood in the eyes of Chinatown of old. Wakefield knows in charge of the funeral and a hundred of his men were scattered throughout the narrow streets. He was taking no chances.

Lee Kung, the venerable priest of the Chinese Temple, had on his gorgeous robes. They glittered with bright silken threads and the great gold dragons. He was going to send Wakefield's heroes to their God in state.

The aged priest stood between the two dead men in the dim flickering light of the chapel. In the mouth of each was a coin which was to pay the Grizzled Boatkeeper for their passage over the River of Death. On the breast of each was a tightly corked bottle. In each bottle was a slip of paper on which was written the man's name. If the boatman should become careless on the journey and allow his passengers to slip overboard, then the bottles would wash ashore and their friends would know.

Lee Kung began to address the two men who were going on the long journey. He told them of the mysteries of the life that was to be theirs. Around him huddled the comrades of the men.

Lee Dock and Eng Hing died by the law of the white man, for doing their duty as Chinamen as they saw it," he said. "They avenged their dead brothers."

from the blue-blossomed muttering which was the sound of the coffin men who were going on the long journey. He told them of the mysteries of the life that was to be theirs. Around him huddled the comrades of the men.

Inspector Wakefield stood in the doorway. He shook his head at the priest.

Lee Kung chose his words carefully after that. At last he finished.

Then the gong was beaten, the weird shrieking of the flute sounded and sixteen Hip Sings lifted the coffin on their shoulders and the march to the cemetery began. It did not lead through Chinatown. Inspector Wakefield was taking no chances.

Behind the principals were scattered bits of vari-colored paper were scattered. Screaming sentences were written on them. Thus, if evil spirits were following the dead men to their graves, they would stop to read what was on the bits of paper and forget to follow the hearse.

Ahead of the hearse went a carriage which held the feast. Roast pigs, chickens, nuts, rice, eggs, cakes, ginger—everything was there that the men might not become hungry on their long journey. Behind the hearse came the floral carriages, and behind them carriages bearing their friends.

At the grave, Lee Kung bade the men farewell. The women walked up the steps and the dirt was thrown on the coffins. Then the feast was laid out the graves and the cortege wound its way back to Chinatown.

There was an undertone of activity that night, but the presence of white guardians forestalled any open outbreak.

H. C. Chinatown smolders and the police department waits in dread of when the smoldering will break out in flame that probably will necessitate sending another Hip Sing to the electric chair.

BRODHEAD ATHLETICS NO MATCH FOR TROY; FINAL SCORE, 71 TO 24.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Brodhead, Feb. 20.—The game of basketball Friday evening between the Troy, New York team, the big champions, and the Brodheads, the big letics, was fast and furious but entirely free from roughness. The home team made the first two baskets but the final score was easily different and stood 71 to 24 in favor of the champs. The opera house was crowded.

The game between the Monroe High School team and the home team played at High School gym also drew a big crowd and was very interesting game, hard fought every inch and at the end of the second half was a tie in the play-off the home team won 15 to 17.

Does It Pay to Advertise Auctions in The Janesville Gazette?

ASK COL. DOOLEY OR S. S. SUMMERS

S. S. Summers started out to post bills for his auction held last week. He hadn't gone far when he found that the roads were fairly impassable and that it was taking too much of his time. "I am going home," he said, "and trust to the advertising in the Gazette to bring me the crowd."

What was the result?

A well known Janesville man who has seen every big auction in this section for years declared it was the largest auction he ever attended.

Here is Mr. Summer's own letter telling about it:

Gazette Printing Co.,
Janesville, Wis., Feb. 20, 1915.

Gentlemen:

It pays to advertise auctions in the Gazette. I had an $8,000.00 auction with less than 100 bills posted. Three regular auction ads in the paper, 10 inches each at an expense of $9.00, brought me the largest crowd ever held in this section of the country. Over 1,000 men were at the auction and we got good prices for everything.

S. S. SUMMERS.

Col. Dooley, the Auctioneer, Secures over $19,000 at Five Advertised Auctions

Last week Col. W. T. Dooley was the auctioneer at five auctions. The total sales of these five amounted to $19,045.68. Every one was well attended because they were advertised in the Gazette.

At one of the advertised sales, sheep brought the highest price known. $13.25 being realized per head for ordinary range sheep. 18 cows brought an average of $81, the prices being from $72 to $125. Corn brought from $20 to $22.60 per ton, while oats sold $20 and 55/2c.

DOOLEY SAYS THE ONLY SURE WAY OF GETTING A CROWD AND GOOD PRICES AT AN AUCTION IS TO HAVE IT ADVERTISED IN THE GAZETTE. HE KNOWS FOR HE HAS TRIED BOTH WAYS.

The regular size of Auction advertisements is 2 columns by 5 inches, 10 inches in all. The expense is $4 where one advertisement is used. When more than one advertisement is used the cost is $3 for each insertion.

Publicity

GREATEST FORCE IN THE WORLD, IS AVAILABLE
TO THE CLASSIFIED
ADVERTISER
AT A MINIMUM
COST

The Classified Advertising columns enable the man or woman with the small quest to secure their results quite as surely as do the big merchants.

The Classified columns afford to you "a point of contact" with the greatest force in the world—the force which "moves mountains" as a part of its daily routine—the force of newspaper publicity.

Your "mountain" may be but a hillock of perplexity—such as finding a place to work, or a boarding place, or a room, or a lost article, or a buyer for something that you have to sell, or a tenant—but your "hillock of perplexity" is just as vexing while it confronts you as is the "mountain" of the merchant, who must exert the full force of this thing we call "Publicity" in the solution of his problems.

To imagine that Classified Advertising may be good for some people, but not for you, is to choose a form of blindness to your interests which is as unprofitable as it is unnecessary.

Right now is the time to start advertising seeds of all kinds for spring planting.
The demand will soon be felt
and the consideration of where to buy is being given thought now.

A great deal of weight will be given to early advertising
as a result. It is the early advertiser that will have the greatest effect on the mind of the prospective purchaser and secure the bulk of the or-

SPORTS

RING GAME KINGS FIND CARDS EASY WINNING 38 TO 5

Troy Players Show Janesville Fans Greatest Playing Ever Seen on Local Floor.

Fighting against odds with a team that outclassed them by sheer skill in all phases of basketball, the Janesville Cardinals playing gamely to the last, went down to defeat, 38 to 5, Saturday night before the tens of thousands of the Troy, New York, basketball five, champions of the world's title. Twelve hundred paid admissions were recorded at the box office, and Janesville basketball fans saw the greatest team that ever appeared on a Janesville floor. Highly efficient in everything that constitutes good basketball, the easterners were never in danger of being tied, and with consistent playing they easily outdistanced the Cardinals. Aggressive on the offensive and impenetrable on the defense, the Troy men were every minute in the game and gave the Janesville boys one merry chase.

The crowd was satisfied. So were the Cardinals. They realized only too well after five minutes of play that it was only a matter of keeping the men from the home port of Johnny Evers to as low a score as possible. The Cards did this to the best of their ability, and the fans did not complain. The game was a phenomenon and although the Cardinals were the under dogs it was satisfying to the crowd, although, of course, they would have liked to see Caldwell's five make the string of sixty-one consecutive victories of the great man.

Troy exhibited a passing that was a marvel. It had the Cards running round in circles, winded and tired, but they could not say a word. It was the nerve of the five that kept the score low. They never gave in for an instant and their aggressive found playdits from the victors and the crowd.

Elder found a tartar in English, left forward. English garnered seven baskets off the mighty "Herck," but had to fight for every one. Dalton was nearly as badly handicapped by Hagarty, said to be the greatest man on the Troy team. He found the walling five times, and three of them were what the crowd called "considerable shots." English, left forward, Troy center, towering head and shoulders above Hemming, easily outjumped the 1914 state high school champ and worked his plays to perfection. Levy scored three. Atwood was the only Janesville player to outpoint his man, getting Janesville's only two field baskets. Suits, guarding Eddie, found the Carroll play as he kept on top track of as an ace and could score at will. Hemming himself, right forward, slipped past Ryan for five field goals, and had the latter been as efficient on the long shots as some of the visitors, the Cardinals would have been closer. Ryan's long throws were always close, but in basketball as in everything else, it's the ringers that count.

Hemming's goal, following a foul on Hagarty, boosted the Janesville total to five. At half time the Troy men had secured 21 to Janesville's one. The final whistle stopped the score of 17 in the second period.

Sidelights. The sportsmanship of the visitors was the best shown here this season. But four fouls were called during the entire game. English counted twice on a lost one, while Hemming made one and lost one.

It was the greatest house that ever saw the city in Janesville. The easterners met Belvidere on the Belvidere floor tonight. Yesterday they were making preparations for a rough game.

They are scheduled to return to New York state later in the week, and play at Troy on Friday. Throughout this section there is some talk of a game between them and the Chicago Cardinals.

The conditions seem hardly likely to their meeting the fast quintet from the collar and shirt city. The sharp clang of the skating bell just previous to the intermission time up startled the crowd for an instant when somebody shouted "fire." The cry came from the river end of the building, and although audible to practically everybody present, the realization that it came from the garrison section of the house brought people to their senses. This space could be given over to a list of the dead and injured instead of a basketball game item, had the crowd stamped.

Seeing how far into the crowd they could push, the fans seemed to be one of the joyful diversions of players of either team. Elder succeeded in hoisting English over the rail three times, but the third was a failure. English assumed the attitude of a pug and a gently handed "Herck" one on the shoulder. "Herck" spurred back, but the inrush of players caused a precipitate retreat of both.

Aside from this trench action the playing was very clean. The crowd was orderly, too, although the long wait for the start made them somewhat impatient. Many had thronged the Auditorium as early as eight o'clock to secure seats, knowing that a record attendance would feature the evening.

Ryan, Elder and Hemming showed the effects of the Maroon-Monroe Cardinal game of Friday night. Although not playing out of form the strains was too heavy a load to carry. Janesville played the most aggressive game of any team Troy has met in the west, according to Captain Clugis. Other teams, he said, played their Troy opponents more on the floor to keep the score low, but the Cardinals were in the game all the while for baskets.

Ringers from any angle were easy shots for the visitors.

Speculation is still rife today among fans as to the game to be played between the Trovites, but the easterners won the game Saturday night.

Manager Caldwell will have to have the railings repaired this week. The crowd jammed them and twisted them away from their moorings.

Elder and a Troy player are mourning the loss of sealskin bags stolen during the time on the floor. Evidently some sneak came in through the dressing room window for his mite. A Brohead youth was suspected but was cleared on the testimony of two local players. The doors were watched for some time, but the bags are still unrecovered.

The Hamlin Park Triangles of Chicago will meet the Cards on Saturday night. The Triangles held the Chicago I. A. C. to a 28 to 26 count, and are considered as strong as any of the numerous Windy City teams.

Brooklyn Winners. The Janesville Y. M. C. A. five were unable to defeat the Brooklyn Tigers Saturday night, losing by a score of 28 to 18. The game was played on a court that proved too much for the local five, and the Tigers annexed their thirteenth victory this season, having defeated all southern Wisconsin teams, including Monroe, Madison, Stoughton, with the exception of the strong Brohead aggregation. A return game to be played at Janesville was scheduled. Summary: Janesville Y. M. C. A.—Brown and French, forwards; Falter and Cannon, center; Booth, Falter and Brown, guards. Brooklyn—A. Weiss, left forward; Johnson, right forward; Cusick and Johnson, guards. Goals—Weiss 4, Kivlin 5, O'Brien 2, Brown 3, French 1, Cannon 1, Booth 1, Falter 2, Cusick and Johnson 1. Fouls—French 2.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Apparently Branch Rickey believes he can overdo getting his team ready early in the spring. A year ago Branch had his team right on edge and as a result the Cardinals were great shape for the American league. But he is not going to hurry the Browns so fast this spring. Instead, his training season will not start until the first of May. He will come to an end three weeks later, and the Browns will return to St. Louis to take on the Cardinals, the stay in St. Louis being almost three weeks shorter than in 1914.

Miller Huggins, back from Havana, says that Armando Marsans is willing the outcome of the Fed's "rust" to them. If the Fed's will stick to them, they will lose him. He will return to the Reds and be immediately exchanged to St. Louis for Irvy Fingero. If Marsans doesn't come out, Huggins will figure out some other equivalent for the clinging vine.

It beehives the Reds to watch their fences. The Federals are making a last desperate attempt to win back Irvy Marsans, and are besieging him in Georgia. It was generally supposed that aggressive operations on both sides would be discontinued, but the "rust-bust" suit was finished, but the Reds have been taking advantage of the slackers. Larry Schafly of the Buffalo Bees, and Dick Carroll of the Brooklyn Dodgers, have been visiting Wingo at his home. They may have tried by persuasion, suggestion and enticement, to draw him back into the camp of the outlaws.

The suggestion that the world's series rules be amended that all players in both leagues be given a share of the proceeds is entirely out of order. The suggestion is absurd. The only players who deserve a right share in the receipts are those who have assisted in the winning of the pennants. To give the other players a share would be just about the same as sharing a raise in pay which you get with all the other fellows in your shop. The players who are out on the diamond hustling all the time. They don't loaf. They are fighting and playing every minute. They deserve all they get and there isn't a reason why they should get the extra money with a lot of players who don't care whether they win a ball game or lose one.

George Stallings points out that "all the Athletics did was to play baseball." And they did not bother the umpire or any of the Braves and they lost the world's series. If a college team had stopped to "ride" an opposing team during an important series the way the Braves treated the Athletics, what a howl would have gone up! If during a prize fight, that brutal, uncouth game, one of the way some of the Mackmen tribe did to some of the Mackmen tribe howl would have ascended! Well, the Braves won, anyway. There's food for a sermon, just the same.

Harry Fritz, utility infielder of the Chicago Federals, is a very lucky individual. He has been sold to the St. Louis Feds. He is booked to be

THIRTY-TWO PLAYERS WILL LOSE BERTHS

Ruling That Only 32 Players can be Carried in National to Accomplish Big Saving.

(By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, Feb. 22.—That old bewhiskered gent who back in the stone ages somewhere announced that every action has its reaction must have been looking into the dim and misty future at the 1915 baseball chaos. Certain it is that the reaction of frenzied anarchy in our national pastime is here. Never was a thing more fully demonstrated than at the recent meeting of National League magnates here.

Thirty-two berths in the National League occupied last year will be vacant this season. That means a saving of over $75,000 to $100,000 to the magnates and the blighting of 32 aspiring youngsters' hopes. For the moguls decreed that no club should carry more than 21 men from May 1 to September 1. Last year they were allowed to pay traveling expenses for 26.

Thirty-two jobs have been suddenly snatched away from ball players. Friends of O. B. lay the blame on the Feds. Federal adherents, quick to resent anything of the sort, claim that it is merely the result of hard times, and deny absolutely that the Feds are responsible for anything that would take anything away from the sun-burned athletes.

Be that as it may, the retrenchment days are here. Ball players a few months ago held up the Federal ogle as a means of drawing fat contracts from their O. B. bosses. Now their bosses tell them if they can help themselves by taking the hard, go to it. That is what the resident James Gaffney of the champion Braves told Leslie Mann at the National meeting. Mann wanted $3,500; Gaffney offered $3,000 and refused to budge.

TEAMS BATTLE TODAY AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

Church League Cup Fought for in Opening Conflict, After Which Stoughton Met High Quint.

One of the largest crowds of high school and church league basketball enthusiasts ever assembled for a school basketball, filled the large gymnasium at the high school gymnasium last night to witness two games of unusual interest. The first one starting at two-thirty o'clock, between the Presbyterians and Congregationalists for the church league cup, and the second, called an hour later, between Janesville high tossers and Stoughton.

The Congregationalists ruled the favorites in the opener, although many optimistic fans were pulling for the Presbyterians. In the second encounter, Janesville was predicted as the probable winners, despite the fact that the Presbyterians had a point margin with which they have won. The high school Swedes on the Madison floor, Janesville lined up as follows: Richards, I. E. Capt. Stickney, R. F. Rau, C. Stewart, I. M. Dearborn, R. G.

CHAOS IN MEXICO DISTURBS JOHNSON

Negro Pugilist, Who Arrives in Cuba on Way to Juarez, Is Annoyed by Tales of Anarchy.

Port Havana, Feb. 22.—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, accompanied by his wife and child, is spending the night here, en route to Juarez, where he will have a servant, arriving this morning from Cienfuegos. He appeared in good condition and declared he never felt better. Johnson said his only anxiety now was to reach Juarez in time for his match with Jess Willard, on March 6. He was much annoyed at hearing of the present chaotic conditions in Mexico, especially the difficulties going north from Tampico. Johnson declared, however, that he was determined to push ahead in spite of all obstacles, and if no regular steamer was available for the trip, he would charter a vessel to take him to Tampico.

No plans have been made for his appearance in Havana, Johnson said, but he would confer with George M. Bratt, who holds the Cuban government's concession for boxing matches in the Havana stadium, and might give an exhibition bout with Sam McVey or Jim Johnson.

The heavyweight champion reached Cienfuegos on the four-masted schooner Henry F. Kragar, which he chartered to take him from Barbadoes. The passage, which was rough, took ten days.

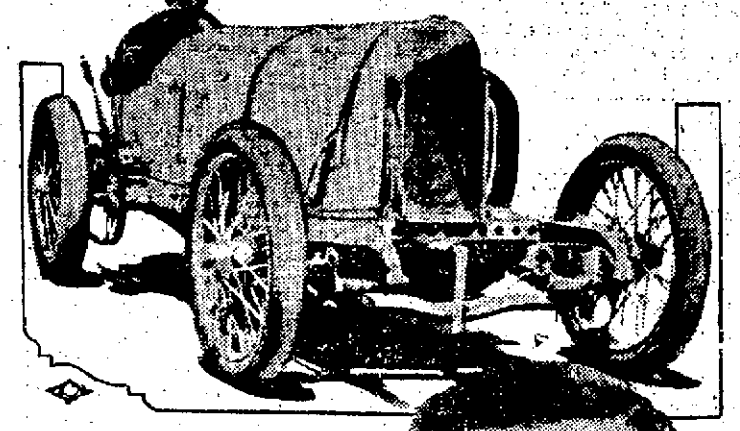

METHODIST JUNIORS TAKE TILT FROM PRESBYTERIANS

In a basketball game played Saturday morning at the high school between the Methodist and Presbyterian junior teams, the Methodist won by a score of 8 to 3. The Presbyterian team was weak on baskets. Line-up follows:

Methodists—Keller, Jr. Allen, Jr. Rogers, Jr. Black, Jr. Taylor, Jr. Presbyterians—Keller, Jr. Rogers, Jr. Lowry, C. Holsapple, Jr. McDowell, Jr.

Presbyterians—Taylor, 2; Black, 2; Allen, 1; Rogers, 1. Free throws—Allen, 2; Rogers, 1.

"SPEED KING'S" WONDERFUL RECORD GOES UNBROKEN; MADE 2 MILES IN 51.28 SECONDS

Bob Burman and German made car that holds world's record.

Although he has never won a great road race, Bob Burman remains the world's speed king. Every effort to beat his record has been futile. At Ormond-Daytona Beach, Fla., April 23, 1911, Burman traveled faster than any human being who ever lived. He drove the 300-horsepower German racer, the car with the most wonderful motor ever built, at the rate of 147.87 miles an hour. His record for the mile is 25.46 seconds. Burman traveled two miles in 51.28 seconds and drove the kilometer in 15.88 seconds.

AGRICULTURAL AND GARDEN DEPT

ALLEN B. WEST, Director

(All questions on topics referring to Garden and Agriculture should be directed to that department. Allen B. West, in charge, care of the Gazette, Janesville, Wis.)

Question—Will you please see to it that I get Wisconsin Bulletin No. 22, "Getting Most Profit From Farm Manure and Cows." Ways of Improving Our Land." H. B. C.

Answer—The bulletins have been ordered sent to the inquirer. They are very helpful ones and it is an enormous task to have application for them. The farmers of the state are helping pay for the publication of these bulletins. They will get ample returns for their money if they make use of them. The farmer who does not use them is doing just a much more to the fellows who do use them.

Question—I would like a plan for vegetable garden, sufficient to furnish fresh vegetables for a family of three persons, raising such things as shall find a ready sale if there is a surplus over what is needed for home consumption. My plot is 20x45 feet with a smaller plot of 10x12 feet. The garden plot I have cherry and apple trees, currant and raspberry bushes and some grape vines. D. B.

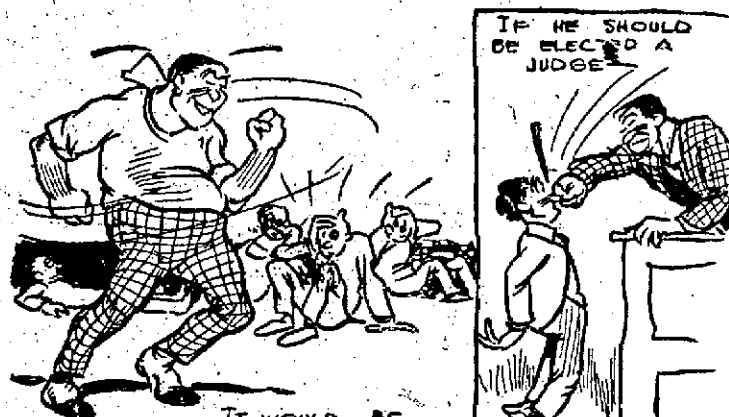

Answer—Gardeners recognize two sorts of crops in their gardens which they designate as "permanent" and "temporary" crops, the former occupying space in the garden for the entire season, or for so much of it that the crops may not be pulled out for any other purpose. The latter, as the name indicates, occupies the ground for a shorter time. It is a good plan in laying out your garden to divide it into two parts, one for permanent crops, the other for temporary crops, and putting your vegetables into rows alternate the permanent and temporary crops, the permanent crops being of slower growth than the temporary crops. The latter are out of the way by the time the permanent crop is large enough to require the room occupied by the temporary crop. You will find it most convenient to run the rows across the garden, that is make your rows 20 feet long, laying out the ground before you begin your planting. For crops you will not want to begin planting until these first rows, but your fourth or fifth row, in which you will put radishes, first seeding and the first seeding of lettuce. Red cabbage, second seeding, and the first seeding of lettuce. Red cabbage, second seeding, and the first seeding of lettuce. Red cabbage, second seeding, and the first seeding of lettuce.

First and third rows sweet corn planted in hills 20 inches apart, the first and third rows being 30 inches apart. Second row, the planting of six hills of summer squash in between the corn rows. Fourth row, radishes, first seeding; fifth row, early tomato radishes, second seeding; sixth row, main crop of tomatoes; seventh row, 8: eighth row, turnips; ninth row, same as row 7; tenth row, early lettuce, first seeding; eleventh row, potatoes, hill 18 inches apart; twelfth row, lettuce, second seeding; thirteenth row, same as row 11; fourteenth row, early peas; fifteenth row, same as row 11.

All these rows are 15 inches apart. This would be too close for the permanent crops, except for the fact that the temporary crop is displaced of early, leaving 30 inches between the rows for the permanent crops.

Rows 15 to 19 are 15 inches apart and are as follows: Sixteenth row, peas, medium early; seventeenth row, cucumbers in hills, 44 inches apart; eighteenth row, radishes, third seeding; nineteenth row, egg plants, the peppers, 17 inches apart. Between nineteenth and twentieth rows 24 inches should be left, and from twentieth and twenty-fourth 12 inches. Twentieth row, cabbage, 15 inches apart; twenty-first row, early lettuce plants; twenty-second, cabbage as in

JOE SHUGRUE WANTS TO BE A LAWYER; HIS FISTIC ABILITY WOULD HELP HIM

JOE SHUGRUE, the New York lightweight, has ideals beyond fast fighting and clean footwork. He aspires to the frock coat the urbane and the slip tongue of a barrister. Yes, sir, Johnny wants to be an attorney at law and counselor in chancery.

It is likely that when the time comes for Shugrue to leave the ring he will be prepared to take up the work of a lawyer. He is studying law even now and anyone who thinks that a prize-fighter is bereft of brains should wait until he has read a row of books. He tackles his study with the same admirable determination that makes his relatives and more intimate friends say that within another year or two all that he doesn't know about the law might be written in a large, bold hand upon the back of a pill box.

Shugrue's experience in the ring should help him in his practice at the bar. The poise and assurance he has acquired in the boxing ring, his appeals to the jury, should the jury be so tactless as to bring in an unfavorable verdict, he would be apt to wreak a pleasant vengeance as humorously pictured in the accompanying illustration. Our artist has let his fancy wander and has portrayed possibilities that might ensue should Shugrue attain the judiciary. For a judge to reach over his bench and fetch the prisoner a smart rap on the ear would be perhaps an unprecedented proceeding, but just the same Shugrue would be likely to do it. As a plain lawyer in a frenzy of eloquence he would also be likely to hurl a ponderous law book at his honor by way of driving home his point.

WOULD MAKE BOXING A CRIMINAL OFFENSE

Assemblyman Hanson Proposes Bill to Place Hedding Law Legalizing Boxing Under Ban.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—The boxing match may be placed under the ban if the bill by Assemblyman Julius Hanson of Shawano is enacted into law. This bill provides that any person who shall, by previous arrangement or appointment, engage in a light or boxing or sparring exhibition with another person for the possession of any prize, belt or other evidence of championship, or for any other cause, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding $100. The audience is also liable to a fine under the law. Any person who shall witness such a contest, including the second, physician or surgeon, shall be punished not to exceed three years in the penitentiary.

THE BIGGEST HOUSEHOLD BARGAIN EVER OFFERED A Sanitary Carpet Sweeper Worth $3.00 $1.18

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 24th, DOLLAR DAY

WE WILL PLACE ON

SPECIAL SALE

BEGINNING AT 9 O'CLOCK

BE HERE ON TIME

MADAM—You don't want to miss this sale. Never before have you had an opportunity to buy a high grade sweeper for so low a price. These sweepers are worth regularly $3.00 but this is a special purchase of a big lot, at a special price, for the sole purpose of holding a big sweepr sale which is bound to be the talk of the town for months. They are mighty good sweepers too, sanitary, handsome in finish and durable, much better than the old wooden kind.

See these sweepers on display in one of our windows. You'll surely be anxious to own one. The sensational low price of $1.18 means that you must be here when the sale starts—they'll go out in a hurry. None sold at $1.18 before sale starts—no phone or mail orders—none sent C. O. D. Only one sold to a customer.

This is one of the big special bargain events we have planned for you. It will prove a wonderful advertisement for this store, which is the object in selling a $3.00 Hygeno carpet sweeper for $1.18.
